ENCLOSURES: Annotated photograph of Telephone Cable Plant "Sevkabel", Leningrad, USSR.

REQUIREMENT RR/HTA/E/R124/56: Describe major changes since World War II
in Telephone Cable Plant "Sevkabel", Leningrad, USSR.

REMARKS:

The Telephone Cable Plant "Sevkabel", located along the south-western edge of Vasil'yevskiy Ostrov In Leningrad, is one of the most important electric wire and cable plants in the USSR.

A study of [REDACTED] photography shows that there has been little apparent change in this plant since the previous photographic cover in [REDACTED]. The only noticeable changes are two new buildings described below which are annotated on the accompanying photograph of the plant.

1. A four-story building, 165'x 145', has been constructed at the southwest corner of the main plant building. This building occupies the site of a single story structure that was destroyed during World War II.

2. A two-story building, 165'x 55', has been constructed along the east-central edge of the plant area.
